

International project Ethics in Public Administration

Project meeting, Berlin, June 2013

The final multilateral meeting of project partners was held in Berlin in June 2013. It was organized within the so called International Days, which is a set of lectures for foreign as well as domestic students on various public administration topics, that was prepared by the hosting Hochschule für Wirtschaft und Recht Berlin. Within this event during presentations and lectures, project partners had an opportunity to introduce the project to students and acquaint them with further aspects of ethics in public administration in project countries.

During the actual project meeting, partners evaluated the course of project in general. Furthermore, there were discussed issues of more administrative character such as completion of the project's final report, rights to dispose with project outputs etc.
